Higher-Ups Under Fire For My Lai

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The defendant, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., is being virtually ignored in this stage of his murder trial as the jury seeks to search higher in the line of command for the answer to what happened at My Lai and why.

The questions to witnesses continued to concentrate on the briefing Calley and his men received from their company commander on the eve of the March 16, 1968, infantry sweep through the Vietnamese village. The prosecution hopes to show Calley's instructions did not include the killing of non-combatants.

Efforts by the combat-experienced jury to widen the scope of the trial—through their questions and requests for witnesses that now include a major-general—brought a stern rebuke Thursday from Judge Reid Kennedy.

"I want you to clearly understand you are not here to investigate the operations of Task Force Barker," he said, addressing himself to the colonel, four majors and a captain on the jury.

Calley, a platoon leader in one of the companies that comprised the task force, is being tried on charges that he killed 70 unresisting civilians in one instance, 30 in another, plus a man and a child.

"We all want you to gather as much information as possible under the legal rules," Kennedy told the jurors. But, he said, the only questions they must resolve are "whether Lt. Calley committed the acts alleged by the government and whether Lt. Calley was following orders."

The judge said he would screen questions and requests for witnesses to determine "whether they are designed merely to satisfy your curiosity."

The jurors responded Thursday to the judge's request Wednesday for a list of witnesses they wish to hear when both sides have rested. The list included these names: — Capt. Ernest Medina, 24, Calley's company commander, who is under pretrial investigation on charges that he bore over-all responsibility for the civilian deaths in May Lai. Medina's lawyers have volunteered his testimony as a prosecution witness.

Black Panther Split Widens; 2 Factions

Cleaver Says Hilliard, Newton Are 'Expelled'

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — In a barrage of recrimination, the Black Panther party is splitting into two factions, one headed by Huey P. Newton and David Hilliard, the other by exile Eldridge Cleaver.

The extent of the rift in the militant organization became clear Thursday when Cleaver said in a telephone interview from Algiers that he is expelling Hilliard, party chief of staff and Newton, defense minister.

Cleaver, in Algiers to avoid returning to a California prison for parole violation, is Panther information minister. Newton co-founded the organization with Bobby Seale in October 1966.

Cleaver said his party faction would have headquarters in New York. The party's regular national headquarters is in Oakland.

Hilliard heard a tape of Cleaver's interview with two newsmen from KSAN Radio in San Francisco and said he had no immediate comment.

The Cleaver interview followed publication in the weekly official party newspaper, The Black Panther, of an article describing him as a "male chauvinist" who was holding his wife, Kathleen, in Algeria against her will.

Mrs. Cleaver joined her husband in the radio telephone interview and said the article, signed by Elaine Brown, deputy minister of information for the Southern California chapter, "is patently absurd."

$1 Million Fire Loss For Dayton

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fire Thursday night caused an estimated $1 million damage to a building belonging to the Earl D. Creger Excavating Co.

Officials reported that damage could total $500,000 to construction equipment alone. Earl D. Creger, firm president said the fire also destroyed most of the records, including $750,000 worth of bills due, kept in the offices.

The fire was discovered about 8 p.m. by Mark Skinner, 14, of Oakwood, who was on his way home from delivering papers. When firemen arrived 10 minutes later the entire building was in flames.

Firemen were hampered by exploding oil drums, but had the fire under control two and one-half hours after it was reported.

There were no injuries. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Seek Escapee From Hospital

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Miami County authorities were searching today for a 32-year-old Dayton man believed to be wearing pajamas and possibly part of his hospital bed.

Troy police said David Hottle, charged with shooting with intent to wound, escaped this morning from Stouder Hospital where he was recovering from gunshot wounds of leg and head.

Authorities had handcuffed Hottle to his bed, but discovered him missing along with the side of his bed. He was allegedly involved in a shootout with police Sunday in the Southbrook section of Troy.

Student Slain In Kidnap Search

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — One student was killed and a dozen troops and students were injured today in a gunfight when troops attempted to enter a university dormitory to search for four kidnapped American airmen and their captors.

The troops surrounded the dormitory at the Middle East Technical University. The students threw dynamite sticks and fired on the troops from windows and the roof.

A commando unit was rushed to the campus and opened up with rifles and automatic weapons on the students. Military helicopters buzzed the roof, scattering the rebellious youths.

Later security officials said the situation was "under control," but the Americans had not been found. "We have one dead and wounded coming in in droves," said a doctor at the military hospital near the campus.

Student disturbances to protest the technical university were reported at several other campuses in Ankara.

Thousands of police and troops were searching for the missing men. The government seemed determined to defy the terrorists' threat to shoot the captives unless $400,000 in ransom is paid by Saturday morning.

Five armed Turks abducted the four Air Force radar technicians early Thursday as they were driving from a U.S. radar base on the outskirts of Ankara to their billets.

The Americans are Sgt. Jimmie J. Sexton of San Angelo, Tex., and Airmen 1.C. Larry J. Heavner of Denver, Colo., Richard Caraszi of Stamford, Conn., and James M. Gholson of Alexandria, Va.

Several hours after the abduction, police arrested a youth as he parked the airmen's station wagon near the Soviet Embassy. They said he was Mete Ertekin, a former student at the technical university.

Ertekin admitted that he and four other leftists carried out the kidnaping, police said. He named the other Turks but claimed he did not know where they were. The semi-official Anatolian news agency said all were students or recent dropouts, all were already wanted for two local bank robberies, one is accused of distributing arms to students at the technical university after training

Wilmington Moves To Stop Closing Of Clinton Air Base

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Both Ohio's senators, a congressman and Gov. John J. Gilligan today promised support in Wilmington's efforts to keep Clinton County Air Force Base open.

Tom Hunter, editor - general manager of the Wilmington News - Journal, said his newspaper is spearheading the organization to save the base from closing June 30, 1971 as part of a massive cutback in defense spending.

Congressman Walter Powell and Sens. William Saxbe and Robert Taft Jr. notified Hunter that they plan meetings with U. S. Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. The lawmakers and Gilligan also want planned cutbacks at Lockbourne AFB in Columbus rescinded.

"These people (on the base) have taken root in our community," Hunter said. "They are involved in the Parent Teachers Association, Cub Scouts, all civic associations — their kids are in our schools. The relationship between them and the community is close to marvelous. It's a neighbor type thing, a social mixture," he said.

Speaking for the city council, the Clinton County Commissioners and retail and civic organizations, Mayor Dale Minto said that the base provides a $9 million annual payroll that can be traced to $400,000 annually spent for goods and services in Wilmington.

The town has 10,000 people and 1,882 reservists pull duty at the base. Of those 185 are fulltime. Those personnel assigned to the 906th and 907th special operations groups earn $2.5 million annually; 302 civilians and 221 technicians get $5 million and 185 fulltime Air National Guardsmen with the 196th Air Refueling Group bring in $1.5 million annually, the mayor said.

The cutback will move all the personnel and jobs to Columbus, Hunter said. The real estate value of the base is $34 million.

Hunter said his organization has begun a campaign of letters and telegrams to the President, The U. S. Air Force, the defense department and to Congress.

"We're not going to sit back passively," he said, "We're going to raise hell!"

SST Chief Discounts Report As Prepared By 'Amateur'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supersonic-transport chief William M. Magruder says there is no point in releasing a 1969 memorandum against the SST because its author is no "expert either on aviation or the SST."

Magruder told a House subcommittee Thursday he assessed Dr. Richard L. Garwin's expertise during a nearly five-hour conversation. He said he hopes to be released from a secrecy pledge to report that conversation to the subcommittee if it obtains a copy of Garwin's report.

But Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., praised Garwin's expertise and said one of SST opponents' problems is finding someone to turn to for the other side of the issue.

The running controversy over the Garwin report and President Nixon's refusal to release it broke out once again at the House transportation appropriations subcommittee's final hearing on continued funding for two SST prototypes.

Chairman John McFall, D-Calif., questioned whether the paper contains useful information and denied Yates' request that the subcommittee ask its release. But McFall said he will ask the White House to tell what is in the memorandum.

Refusal to release the paper, McFall said "raises a cloud — an unnecessary cloud. I can't imagine it says anything that is not outdated."

Magruder, chief Nixon administration SST spokesman, called Garwin an eminent nuclear physicist but said that during a recent conversation, "I did not hear anything to indicate that Dr. Garwin is an expert either on aviation or the SST."

Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe testified Monday only President Nixon could release the memorandum that Garwin submitted in 1969 as head of a panel of the President's Council of Science Advisers.

The SST's top environment adviser told the subcommittee future SST flights might be grounded by cosmic radiation—but only about once every 11 years, during solar peaks.

Northeast Battered By Storm

Strong winds continued to buffet the Northeast today, blowing and drifting the snow dumped by a late winter storm that howled up the populous Eastern Seaboard Thursday.

The National Weather Service predicted northwest winds of 25 to 40 miles an hour would make driving hazardous. Travelers warnings were posted from Pennsylvania to Maine.

Very cold air riding the wind will push into the Deep South, bringing freezing temperatures as far south as northern Florida, the service said.

The storm struck Thursday from the Carolinas to Canada. Highways were sealed off, schools were closed, power lines were snapped, telephone service was disrupted, and wind-whipped high tides caused severe flooding.

Large areas of the Northeast were covered by up to two feet of snow, disrupting airline schedules, among a host of inconveniences. Twelve inches fell on Rochester, N.Y., causing President Nixon to cancel a scheduled visit there today.

Up to 16 inches of snow fell on parts of West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and drivers' warnings were posted in every section of the Northeast. In Upstate New York, where 19 inches fell, 244 miles of the New York State Thruway was closed.

In New York City, all three airports were closed intermittently and police sealed off several streets when gale-force winds tore building materials loose from skyscrapers under construction.

Tighten Rules On Air Flights

Charter Trips To Be Examined

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe has ordered tighter charter flight operations, placing them under the same type federal scrutiny faced by commercial airlines.

Acting in the wake of a study of the Wichita State football charter crash in Colorado which killed 31 persons last October, Volpe ordered the Federal Aviation Administration Thursday to begin a closer watch of all air-taxi charter operations.

As a first step, FAA field offices will begin continuous surveillance of all jetliners and larger prop planes operated by small chartering outfits.

The need, FAA officials said, is closer regulation of the small independent operators as distinguished from supplemental and regularly scheduled airlines.

Comprehensive guidelines are being developed and will be issued to all FAA field offices in April, officials said.

In the past, the FAA said, many charter operators have used various dodges to evade federal regulation. By claiming their operations were not for compensation or hire in private carriage, they avoided the FAA's broad rules for that category.

As a result the FAA has had to determine in each case whether an operation is for compensation or hire.

"We feel the time has come for the FAA to no longer concern itself with making economic determinations so that we can concentrate on our primary concern—safety," the FAA said.

Nixon Denies Invasion Talk Backed By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says the Laotian operation ensures continuation of U.S. troop withdrawals from Indochina, but adds there are no plans for American support of an invasion of North Vietnam.

In a televised news conference Thursday night, Nixon said U.S. force must remain in the South as long as the North holds American prisoners.

And he vigorously defended Secretary of State William P. Rogers—"my oldest and closest friend in the Cabinet"—against a charge by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., that Rogers had lost his role to Henry Kissinger, the President's national-security-affairs adviser.

"I think Sen. Symington's attack upon the secretary frankly was a cheap shot," Nixon said, adding that he wasn't condemning Symington for his statement in the Senate Tuesday.

"As to whether either Secretary Rogers or Dr. Kissinger is the top adviser, as to who is on first," Nixon said, "the answer to that of course is very simply that the secretary of state is always the chief foreign-policy adviser and the chief foreign-policy spokesman of the administration."

The Indochina war dominated the half-hour news session devoted to foreign affairs. The President went to some length in pronouncing the Laos operation a success.

U.S. troop withdrawals have been averaging roughly 12,000 a month since Nixon began reducing the 543,500-man U.S. force in mid-1969. By May 1 the U.S. force remaining in South Vietnam is slated to be down to 284,000, and the President plans

Trudeau Is Married To Girl, 22

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The 22-year-old daughter of a veteran politician has ended the long bachelorhood of Canada's Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

Trudeau, 51, and Margaret Sinclair were honeymooning today at a ski resort north of her home in Vancouver. They plan to return to Ottawa next week.

The nation was stunned by the announcement late Thursday night that the couple had married at St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church here "in a quiet ceremony attended only by members of the two families."

Trudeau met Miss Sinclair in Tahiti three years ago while both were on vacation.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sinclair of Vancouver. Her father is a longtime power in the Liberal party, a former cabinet minister and a member of the Privy Council.

The bride's mother, who is two years younger than the prime minister, said after the wedding, "It wasn't sudden. They gave a lot of thought to it."

Trudeau had dated Miss Sinclair frequently, but the public did not suspect a romance. Much more attention was paid to his infrequent but widely publicized dates with singer Barbra Streisand.

The secrecy surrounding the romance and the wedding was completely in keeping with Trudeau's reputation as an unorthodox politician and an intensely private person.

Teens Caught With Stolen Tape Players

During February sessions of the Pickaway County Juvenile Court, two 16-year-old Circleville boys were found guilty of taking stereo tape players from automobiles.

One youth was put under the court's jurisdiction for three years and ordered to complete 100 hours of community work for the theft of a tape machine from an automobile owned by Robert Hoover, Franklin St.

Taking a tape player from the car of Charles Tatman, Stoutsville, resulted in a continuation of probation for the second boy. He was given credit for 12 days he spent in detention.

A girl, 15, was found guilty of school truancy and given a suspended sentence to the Youth Commission. Her probation was continued and she was ordered to spend three weekends in detention.

A four-year probationary term was levied against a 17-year-old Ashville boy for school truancy and violating a previous probation. The youth was further ordered to find employment to support his wife and future family.

Eugene E. Pritchard, Columbus, was released from probation with the court's permission when he entered the Armed Forces. He had been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a young boy by providing him with intoxicating beverages.

Jerry Huston, 17, Route 3, had a $10 fine suspended and his driving privileges restricted for 60 days on a speeding charge.

to announce further withdrawals next month.

"Our troop-withdrawal schedule will go forward at least at the present rate," Nixon said.

He said the U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, "tells me that in both Laos and in Cambodia his evaluation after three weeks of fighting is that — to use his terms — the South Vietnamese by themselves can hack it ...

"This means that our withdrawal program, our Vietnamization program is a success, and can continue on schedule, and we trust even ahead of schedule assuming there is more progress in Laos."

Nixon said Abrams reported the South Vietnamese units in Laos already have cut North Vietnamese southbound truck traffic by 55 per cent, "which means that those trucks that do not go South will not carry the arms and the men that will be killing Americans."

While some television commentators have kept up a drumbeat of criticism, Nixon said without naming anyone, the aim of the Cambodian and Laotian operations has been to reduce U.S. forces and casualties and "that is exactly what this administration has done."

Fulbright, describing Kissinger as "the principal architect of our war policy in Indochina," said his proposal is designed to breach "the wall of secrecy behind which the administration has barricaded itself in matters relating to foreign policy in general and to our war aims in Indochina in particular."

While Fulbright said Rogers usually has accepted committee invitations to testify in closed session, he also accused him of withholding information.

Fulbright said he is introducing legislation to require executive-branch employes, like Kissinger, to appear in person when they are duly summoned by congressional committees, "even if upon their arrival, they do nothing more than invoke executive privilege" and refuse to talk.

Fulbright said there is no question of Congress' power to punish a recalcitrant witness and pointed to a case when the Senate ordered a balky witness jailed.

"Not for a moment would I wish to impose so drastic a procedure on Mr. Kissinger, for example, or any other official of our government," Fulbright stated.

"But it is important, he said, that Congress be provided with a reliable and continuing flow of information on foreign policy, particularly concerning present aims and interests in Indochina."

Ertekin's arrest prompted a new statement from the kidnappers, delivered to a local newspaper. Calling themselves the People's Liberation Army, the terrorists demanded that Ertekin be released and extended the ransom deadline from late Friday afternoon to 6 a.m. Saturday—11 p.m. EST Friday.

The first ransom note said the airmen would be "put before a firing squad" if "America" didn't pay $400,000 in ransom.

Copies of the note also were left at the government radio with demands that it be broadcast. The radio gave reports of the kidnappings but left out the section of the ransom note calling for "all Turkish patriots" to take up arms against the government and the United States.

The radio also broadcast a statement from the interior minister saying a massive search for the kidnappers was under way. This was considered another indication that the government was defying the terrorists.

U. S. Ambassador William Handley expressed his "deep concern" for the airmen but gave no indication that the ransom would be paid. The United States has consistently refused to intervene in political kidnappings of Americans abroad, and President Nixon told his news conference Thursday night that he would not pressure the Turkish government to negotiate with terrorists.

Rail Negotiations Resume; Nixon Blocks New Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — With one threatened rail strike postponed by presidential order, industry and union negotiators are resuming contract talks aimed at preventing another.

Carriers and representatives of the United Transportation Union met long enough Thursday night to approve resumption of regular discussions this morning. Negotiations had broken off early Thursday and were saved only after W. J. Usery, assistant secretary of labor, went immediately into private talks with UTW President Charles Luna.

The threat of a nationwide rail strike was close, but after Usery talked with Luna, then with carriers, the sides met and agreed to resume talks.

Meanwhile, President Nixon moved to avert a strike threatened today by 10,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen.

Nixon created an emergency board to investigate the signalmen dispute, putting off any strike action for 60 days. The signalmen's president, C. J. Chamberlain, said in Chicago his union will obey Nixon's order, which allows 30 days for the board to come up with suggestions and 30 days for the parties involved to think them over.

The signalmen seek a 54-per cent pay increase over three years, Chamberlain said. Current pay ranges from $3.20 to $3.78 an hour.

The UTU talks fell through after an all-night meeting Wednesday. The union has been free to strike since 12:01 a.m. Monday when emergency congressional legislation ran out.

But with resumption of talks, spokesmen said, odds for settlement are better.

The UTU is the last of four unions for which the emergency strike-aversion laws were written. The other three settled with carriers last month, coming up with about 43 per cent in wage hikes over 42 months. They had averaged $3.50 an hour.

Work rules are said to be the continuing friction point in the talks.

South Viet Forces Prepare New Attack On 'Ho's Trail'

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese massed more than 1,000 troops just outside Sepone today in preparation for a large-scale assault on the town and airstrip two miles to the west in the heart of the Ho Chi Minh trail supply network.

Sources in Saigon said U.S. helicopters flew the fresh South Vietnamese reinforcements to within three miles of Sepone and that an assault on the enemy transshipment point 25 miles inside Laos was planned.

Lt. Col. Le Thung Hein, a South Vietnamese spokesman in Quang Tri, said the forward-most South Vietnamese infantrymen were 25 to 28 miles deep into Laos and added: "This is the most significant troop movement in two weeks."

Associated Press Correspondent J.T. Wolkertorfer reported from Quang Tri that virtually the entire South Vietnamese 2nd Regiment of the 1st Infantry Division had been committed to the Sepone drive, and that the South Vietnamese now have about 20,000 troops in southern Laos.

This new troop movement left South Vietnam's northernmost province of Quang Tri virtually bare of South Vietnamese army forces. Nearly 2,000 more U.S. troops were moved north to guard against a North Vietnamese thrust across the demilitarized zone. This put the entire northern rim of the country in the hands of the American blocking force of 12,000 to 15,000 men.

Sepone, a key point on the Ho Chi Minh trail, has been under heavy U.S. air attack for months, and the town has been reported virtually flattened. But last month a considerable quantity of war supplies was reported waiting there for movement to South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Sources said South Vietnamese reconnaissance teams have been operating in the Sepone area for several weeks, apparently collecting information for the assault.

South Vietnamese troops battled for three hours Thursday with a strong North Vietnamese force near Sepone.

Lt. Col. Tran Van An, South Vietnam's chief military spokesman in Saigon, said the North Vietnamese finally withdrew under an onslaught of U.S. bombers.

With American helicopters leapfrogging the South Vietnamese from point to point across the complex of enemy supply trails, the U.S. Command reported six more 'copers' shot down and destroyed. Four Americans were reported missing and two wounded.

Thieu's Talk Of Invasion Seen Psychological Warfare

SAIGON (AP) — There is growing belief in Saigon that President Nguyen Van Thieu is waging a psychological war against North Vietnam—and that he himself doesn't believe all that he is saying.

Many observers feel that Thieu did not mean it when he threatened in the past few days to invade North Vietnam. They think he hopes with the threats and veiled threats to throw Hanoi into confusion, possibly into some panic and undoubtedly into anger.

More importantly, by talking about invading North Vietnam, Thieu is forcing Hanoi's generals to commit sizeable numbers of troops to defending their coastline and the "invasion route" just above the demilitarized zone. These are troops which Hanoi could well use in Laos, Cambodia or South Vietnam.

American officials publicly disassociate themselves from Thieu's talk of a "march on the north." But they watch the president's play with private pleasure.

Thieu knows well that he could not send South Vietnamese troops marching into North Vietnam without U.S. support. President Nixon told his news conference Thursday night no plan for such support is under consideration in Washington or has been proposed to him by Thieu.

At the same time, Nixon presumably would like Thieu to keep on talking—but only talking—about invading North Vietnam for the panic effect it might have on Hanoi.

PAIN IN THE HEAD

Up to 90 percent of recurrent headaches may result from neck injuries. In some cases the neck injury may have been so slight that the patient was not aware of any injury at the time. Injury to the spine in the neck area produces a mechanical derangement of the bony structures which causes a pinching or irritation of the nerves in that area. The many nerves and blood vessels of the neck exert their function on the painful areas of the scalp, face, and brain, resulting in headache. Your doctor of chiropractic is specifically trained to locate and correct nerve lesions that could be the cause of your headaches.

Taft, Saxbe Differ On War Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's two Republican senators agreed Wednesday President Nixon is working to end U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, but differed on how much latitude he should have in accomplishing that goal.

Sen. Robert Taft Jr. said Nixon should not need congressional approval to provide U.S. air support for South Vietnamese troops going into enemy territory to clean out border sanctuaries.

But Sen. William B. Saxbe, appearing at a joint news conference with Taft, said a Nixon order to go into enemy sanctuaries "is a decision that should be brought to Congress."

"If it's good enough to sell, Congress will go along with it," Saxbe asserted.

"I think President Nixon has kept his word," he added. "His troop withdrawals have been on schedule, but I want to keep the pressure on so we don't get carried away."

Saxbe and 17 other senators are co-sponsors of a bill by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D. Minn., to ban American combat air forces from aiding South Vietnamese thrusts across the DMZ into North Vietnam.

Taft said Nixon is committed to a withdrawal of American forces and it is up to his administration to decide the tactical moves to get out of Vietnam.

Given Life Term In Cellmate's Death

MACLENNY, Fla. (AP) — Terry O. Grubb, 19, of Akron, Ohio, was sentenced to life in prison Thursday for the murder of a cellmate whose body was found hanging by a makeshift noose in the Alachua County jail.

A circuit court jury convicted Grubb in the death of William Baugher, 26, last October. Two inmates at the jail testified that Grubb, who was being held on charges of robbery, auto theft and being AWOL from the Army, told them of beating Baugher and forcing him to submit to sexual assaults.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Truth Best Defense Against Gossip

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine told me something that has upset me terribly. She wouldn't tell me who had told her, so there is nothing I can do about it. I suppose that is why I am so upset.

She said she had heard that my husband and I were splitting up. Abby, my husband has had to travel more lately for his business and I can't go with him, but we certainly have never been happier, and this splitting up "rumor" couldn't have shocked me more.

I know there is nothing you can do about it, Abby. I just had to tell somebody how heart-sick I am. How does a person go about proving something is a lie?

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: One wouldn't have to. But be aware that a real friend would not bring you gossip or any hurtful "sorry-I-can't-tell-you-who-told-me" tales. Since you are helpless to do anything about gossip (real or possibly dreamed up by the one who told you she had "heard" it), disregard it. A word of consolation: Carriers of such tales are usually jealous and miserable and take pleasure in chipping away at the happiness of others.

DEAR ABBY: Once again I've had an argument about this business of children sleeping over at the homes of friends. The ages of mine are 13 and 16.

I always have wanted my children in their own beds at night, and for that reason I seem to be waging a constant battle with my children, and worse yet with the mothers of their friends.

Am I such an oddball to think that I am right?

Baptist Leader Eyes Hospital Ship

By BILL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Dr. Charles E. Green has a dream about a ship. He's hoping other Southern Baptists will join with him in working to make the dream come true. And some denominational agencies are encouraging the idea.

Dr. Green wants the denomination to seek a Navy hospital ship which it could operate as a vessel of mercy around the world. He envisions the floating hospital as a logical extension of the already widespread missionary work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

"It would be one of the greatest things the church could do," the Lawton pediatrician and local Health Department director said. "Not as many professional people—doctors, nurses and dentists—are going into the foreign mission field as in the past. This would be a great opportunity to utilize these professional people who could serve aboard the ship for several months."

Dr. Green, who serves as pastor for a small Baptist church and teaches a men's Sunday school class in another, already has a ship picked out. It is the Navy hospital ship Sanctuary, a 200-bed, three-operating room vessel now on station in Vietnam.

From the work he has done so far, Dr. Green figures it would cost $1 million a year to keep the Sanctuary afloat. "But we could easily do it, if we can get the churches behind it," he said. "We have 11 million members, and they contribute generously to our foreign mission work."

The Sanctuary is due back in the United States in mid-July. Dr. Green hopes the denomination can obtain it before it is deactivated and placed in mothballs.

He inspected mothballed hospital ships Jan. 20 near Seattle, Wash. "I found out that it could cost as much as $10 million to bring one out of mothballs," he said.

While at Seattle he learned that the Sanctuary was due back in July. That's when he decided to make a try for her.

"If the Navy would keep the Sanctuary on a standby basis for a year, that would give us a year to get the money, go through the necessary channels, and all that," Dr. Green said.

He has contacted the chief of naval operations about obtaining the Sanctuary, and has asked Sens. Fred Harris and Henry Bellmon and other members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation for help.

The Sanctuary is a sister ship to the hospital ship Hope, Dr. Green said. The Hope, operated by the People to People Health Foundation Inc., is a teaching hospital, while Dr. Green sees the Sanctuary under the South-ern Baptist as an operating hospital.

POMEROY, Ohio (AP)—Rail road crews worked through the night to clean up wreckage of 20 freight cars and two engines of a Penn Central train that derailed Thursday about 15 miles west of here.

No one was injured in the accident. Cause of the derailment was not determined, and there was no estimate of damage.

McCall blamed higher labor costs than its competition for loss of the contract.

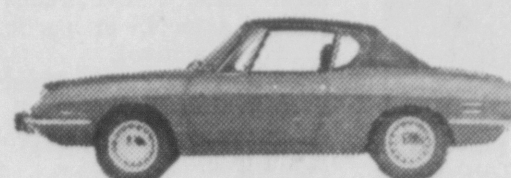

McCall Printing Co. here has lost an annual contract for over $1 million it has held for the past 15 years to print the journal of the American Medical Association.

The loss may cause some layoffs at the Dayton plant, a McCall spokesman said, adding that it is too soon to say exactly what affect the loss will have. Publication of the journal is to be shifted to the W.A. Kruger Co. in Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 1.

Not That Kind

It may be that federal regulatory agencies need overhauling, but making them into one-man operations subject to political pressures, as suggested by a presidential advisory group, is not the best way to go about it.

Such a move would undoubtedly make the agencies more accountable, but to whom?

Placing such agencies as the Federal Trade Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission under the President's thumb might make them more decisive, but they would also be subject to pressure from the White House.

The commissions, beginning with the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1887, were deliberately made autonomous in an effort to ensure impartial, nonpolitical safeguarding of the public's interests.

Under the advisory group's recommendations, administrators would be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate to serve at the pleasure of the President.

While this would make them accountable for their actions, instead of having the semi-judicial autonomy they now claim, it also would mean that an administrator ruling, contrary to the wishes of the President, in a licensing dispute for example, could be summarily fired and replaced by one who would follow the party line.

There is some justification for the criticism of regulatory agencies. In recent years some of them have become less accountable to the people they are supposed to serve, and instead serve the forces they should be regulating.

So perhaps a shakeup is in order, but not the one the advisory group has in mind.

Charged Campaigns

Raising funds needed for political campaigns these days is not an easy chore, as many a finance chairman has discovered to his — and his candidate's — embarrassment. The campaign dinner remains one of the more popular fund-raising tools, presumably on the theory that misery likes company, but numerous other gimmicks are used, at least once.

Recently fund-raisers have begun to look at the credit card, a device not usually associated with campaign contributing. Well, why not? If the credit card makes giving to a favored candidate seem a little less painful, it might work.

It will be interesting to see what success the credit card companies have in collecting on their IOUs when the election returns are in, especially from the losers. Many of those card holders are likely to decide what looked good before the election isn't worth a plugged nickel when the votes have been counted.

Daydreaming

A research psychologist suggests that, starting in lower grades, "certain periods should be set aside for passive contemplation and daydreaming." These would be followed by activity during which children would express their thoughts — or daydreams. The purpose? To encourage the "art of creative thinking."

For years the daydreamer has been accused of inability to concentrate on tasks at hand and with being wilfully inattentive. Daydreaming has been called wasteful idleness. Now it may become part of the curriculum. But is "organized" daydreaming "by the clock" the real thing? This could result in deterioration of a pastime that deserves a better fate.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Dear Poor Man's Philosopher:

"All my life everything I've tried to do has turned out wrong. My whole story is one of failure after failure after failure. I'm willing to take the blame for this, but my friends say it isn't my fault because I'm just a born loser."

"That would make me feel better if it were true. Tell me, how can I be sure whether or not I'm a born loser?"

Jeb Duncie"

Dear Mr. Duncie: Well, sometimes it isn't easy to tell whether a human trait or characteristic is innate or acquired. Often one can be a mixture.

The probability is high that you are a born loser, however, if—

You've made not one but two down payments toward the purchase of the Brooklyn Bridge.

If you cast your bread on the waters, it doesn't come back. It just gets soggy and sinks.

You're the only guy in town who can't join the Elks—or even get in on a guest card. If you inherited a million dollars, it would turn out to be Confederate money.

Your relatives spend three times as many weeks visiting you each year as you do them.

You'll never forget when you bought your second house and insured it only against lightning and wind damage. That same year a tidal wave washed it away.

When the boss comes into the office unexpectedly, you're always the guy he catches with both feet on the desk.

When you tried to enlist in the Air Force, the Air Force sent you to the Navy, the Navy sent you to the Marines, the Marines sent you to the Coast Guard, the Coast Guard sent you to the Army—and the Army sent you back home.

Nobody ever asks you "What's new?" because nobody thinks you could tell.

Your kid gets thrown out of reform school because he can't keep up with his class.

Yes, sir, you're not only a born loser—you haven't even got to the starting gate in the human race.

A BUDDING Greenwich Village artist who specialized in abstractions was commissioned to do the portrait of a Fifth Avenue socialite who liked to be "in" on everything new in the world of art, literature, and music. She rejected the finished job, however, protesting that her nose was thrown completely out of perspective. "I'll still buy it," she proposed, "if you fix that nose." "Impossible," wailed the artist. "I can't find it."

An obliging doctor obliged a proud fishing pal one morning by allowing him to weigh a prize catch on his inner-office scale. The doctor didn't help when he slapped his departing friend on the back and advised him, "Now, if he isn't feeling better tomorrow, you just bring him back."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

There is only one thing worse than being a rich man with gout. And that is, being a poor man with gout.

Gout, once thought to be the status symbol disease of the rich, is now the unpleasant property of people in all levels of society.

Everyone can recall the picture of the overweight tycoon sitting in his overstuffed armchair, with one foot elevated on a downy pillow, the large toe encased in mounds of protective bandage.

Anyone who suffers with gout can tell you that there is nothing funny about this picture, or this disease.

Gout is a peculiar disorder and disturbance of the manufacture and elimination of uric acid.

Some people tend to accumulate uric acid in the blood more readily than others. When they do, the symptoms of gout are likely to appear.

There seems to be some hereditary or family tendency towards gout. These people particularly should be careful of their diet, for there are specific foods responsible for this condition.

These foods contain high amounts of purine, a substance from which uric acid is derived.

Especially high in purine are cauliflower, asparagus, lentils, peas, anchovies, liver, brain, meat extracts, sweetbreads and gravy. Alcohol, in particular, should be avoided.

At first glance, it sounds as if a starvation diet is all that is left for the gout sufferer. This is not true.

Limitless meats, fish and vegetables are low in purine and therefore do not increase the uric acid in the blood.

Gout is a disorder that involves many organs of the body, and causes symptoms far removed from just the known aches and pains in the big toe.

It takes a blood study for uric acid to make the diagnosis of gout. Once this is established, excellent forms of treatment are available.

One drug — probenecid — is used to encourage the elimination of uric acid from the blood by way of the urine. It can be taken for years, under the direction of a physician, to insure the elimination of uric acid.

A new and valuable drug — allopurinol — prevents the formation of uric acid from the purines in food. Sometimes both drugs are used in conjunction with the known dietary restrictions.

In difficult painful cases, cortisone and colchicine are tremendously effective. Gout can be anybody's disease and should be uncovered early to avoid unpleasant complications.

Eyedroppers and eyedrops should be discarded when the eye infection is controlled. The drops themselves can become contaminated.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Friday, March 5, the 64th day of 1971. There are 301 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1770, British troops and a Boston crowd clashed in what became known as the Boston Massacre. It hastened the American Revolution.

In 1750, the first Shakespearean play performed in the American colonies, "Richard the Third," was presented in New York.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Not many people took notice, but the Consumer Price Index for January looked a lot better than that for December. It was officially released as 119.2, compared with 138.5 a month earlier.

Looks don't count with the pocketbook, however, and figures do lie. The consumer actually spent more for goods in January than he did in December, 0.1 per cent more. The change was one of appearance only.

The explanation is found in the different bases used to compute the index, which is said to represent the price paid for a market basket of goods and services. In December the base period was 1957-59. In January it was 1967.

As commonly expressed, the January 1971 figure meant that it cost $11.92 for the market basket compared with $10 in January 1967, or if you prefer, $119.20 versus $100. If it were to have been expressed in terms of the old base it would have been $3.86, or 138.60.

Prices are always relative; in 1967, which is now used as the base, the CPI was 116.3 compared with the 1957-1959 base. But merely as a point of reference we now say it equals 100.

Prices in the 1935-1939 period were less than one-half those of 1957-59.

And since your curiosity may be aroused, the CPI of 55 years ago was only 38, based on the 1957-59 base, calculated backward. It rose to 69.8 in 1920, fell back and stabilized in the upper 50s to low 60s from 1921 through 1930, and then descended to a low of 45.1 in 1933.

As you might have guessed, it has risen with few interruptions since then. A quick check shows only four yearly declines, in 1938, 1939, 1949, and 1955. And many economists believe the record will be similar in coming years.

Inflation, it is now suspected, may be a permanent accompaniment to a so-called full-employment economy, which means an economy in which joblessness is something less than 4 per cent of the civilian population.

The country is committed by the Employment Act of 1946 to seek full utilization of its resources, including labor, and that means, in the opinion of many, that there will be a constant flirtation with inflation.

Regardless, a new base may be expected sometime during the early 1980s, when that 1967 base begins to look old and tired and too reminiscent of a past when prices were lower—meaning now.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics gives as one reason for choosing 1967 the fact that the major economic census, such as the Census of Business and the Census of Manufacturers were taken in that year.

And the reason for the single base year rather than an average of several years is to ease complications and to conform with international practice.

LOOKS DELICIOUS?—Well, it's not, although you may have had it in your mouth. It's a tiny highspeed dental drill, magnified by a scanning electron microscope in Kodak's laboratory in Rochester, N.Y.

Saxbe Hits Health Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, told a Senate public welfare subcommittee Thursday any new federal health assistance should be directed toward keeping people out of hospitals.

He said Medicare and private insurance programs that don't provide for out-patient "are driving people into the hospitals."

Medicare and Medicaid "so increased the demands on our health system that it could not cope," Saxbe said. "And because the system couldn't respond, it protected itself by raising the costs in order to lessen the demand."

As a consequence, Saxbe asserted, some not-so-sick people on public and private insurance programs are tying up $100-a-day hospital rooms while others who should be under the same care remain at home.

Tangents

By Pickaway County Library Staff

One of the definitions of a tangent is "a sudden digression or change of course." Perhaps you have noticed the new heading for the library's adult reading column. "Tangents" is an apt title, for anyone can find himself leafing through books which touch on his particular taste in reading. From a central idea, tangents can shoot off in all directions. Want to go off at a tangent? Here's one example of how you might proceed:

Suppose you are a gardener. You might begin with "Reflections on a Gift of Watermelon Pickle", a book of modern verse compiled by Stephen Dunning.

Or think of flowers. Read "Let's Look at Flowers" by Harriet E. Huntington and "Creativity in Flower Arrangement" by Frances Bode.

You might wander off into the world of nature with "Wild Flowers of the World" by Brian D. Morley, or "Owl" by William Service or "Seasons — Life and its Rhythms" by Anthony Smith.

Think of a garden as a home. Try "Betty Ajays Guide to Home Landscaping" or Gladys Tabor's "Stillmeadow Album" or "Gardens under Glass" by Jack Kramer.

Set your mouth watering over "Fruits for the Home Garden" by Ken Kraft and "The Food-Lover's Garden" by Angelo Pellegrini.

Put a little spice in your life with "Old Time Herbs for Northern Gardens" by Minnie Watson Kamm or "A Fresh Herb Platter" by Dorothy Hogner.

Let your mind wander back in time with "Flowers and their Histories" by Alice M. Coats and "Farming and Gardening in the Bible" by Alastair Mackay.

Be concerned about ecology. Read and digest "Since Silent Spring" by F. Graham, or "Territorial Imperative" by Robert Ardrey.

"Tangents for Gardeners", listing these titles and many more, is available in the lobby. In fact, there are several such lists. One begins with "Last Letters from Stalingrad" and another with "American History through Commemorative Stamps." Look them over, and take off on a tangent of your own.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Wednesday's snowstorm spun out of Main into eastern Canada this morning, but a new low was developing off the Texas Panhandle and is expected to move into Ohio Saturday.

Sunshine and southerly winds are expected to push temperatures well into the 40s in most of Ohio this afternoon. Highs in the extreme south may reach above 50.

Clouds will spread over the state this evening and tonight, marking the approach of the low from the southwest. Temperatures will be higher tonight with overnight readings generally in the 30s.

Rain is likely in most parts of Ohio Saturday, but may begin as a sleet or snow in the northwestern counties.

Skies were clear overnight as pre-dawn temperatures were mostly in the 20s. Early morning readings ranged from 19 degrees at Youngstown to 27 at Cincinnati and Dayton.

Bank Holdup Brings Arrest By FBI Agents

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An unemployed 23-year-old Cleveland man charged with the $4,219 robbery of the Capital National Bank in downtown Cleveland on Feb. 11 was being held here under $100,000 surety bond.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested Donald W. Whitlow Thursday and charged him with the armed robbery, saying that he had held up the bank to pay fines and legal fees for his girlfriend, Cora Mixon, of Cleveland.

The FBI said Miss Mixon pleaded guilty Feb. 12 in Willoughby Municipal Court on two misdemeanor counts of larceny and Whitlow paid her $267 court fine and $250 in legal fees.

They added that Whitlow also had paid a $234 fine for Miss Mixon Feb. 2 when she pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and larceny in Wickliffe.

Gilligan's Washington Journeys Displease Solons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several legislators, mostly Republicans, complain that Gov. John J. Gilligan should spend more time preparing administration legislation than darting off to Washington.

Gilligan has made two trips to the nation's capital since he was inaugurated Jan. 11. He has testified before one congressional committee and has an invitation to appear before another.

"He seems to be an expert on what they should do in Washington, but we're still waiting here in Ohio to get his first piece of legislation," grumbled one GOP committee chairman.

At least two Democratic legislators are also complaining about the slowness of administration bills.

"We don't mind carrying the ball, but it's up to him to hand it to us," said one.

Rep. Norman Murdock, a Cincinnati Republican, put out a 300-word news release Thursday to explain a bill he was introducing into the Ohio House.

The bill would make it a misdemeanor to take shopping carts and infant strollers provided by stores as a courtesy.

Murdock labeled the bill an ecology measure. He said the carts and strollers created an eyesore when abandoned in neighborhoods around shopping centers.

Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, a Cleveland Democrat, has offered a resolution calling for an investigation of buildings at Cleveland State University.

Calabrese said one of the buildings, a 20-story tower, is sinking.

It prompted a Statehouse wag to suggest the resolution be referred to the state's sinking fund for action.

The sinking fund is set up to retire state debts.

Murder Trial

Opens In Cincy

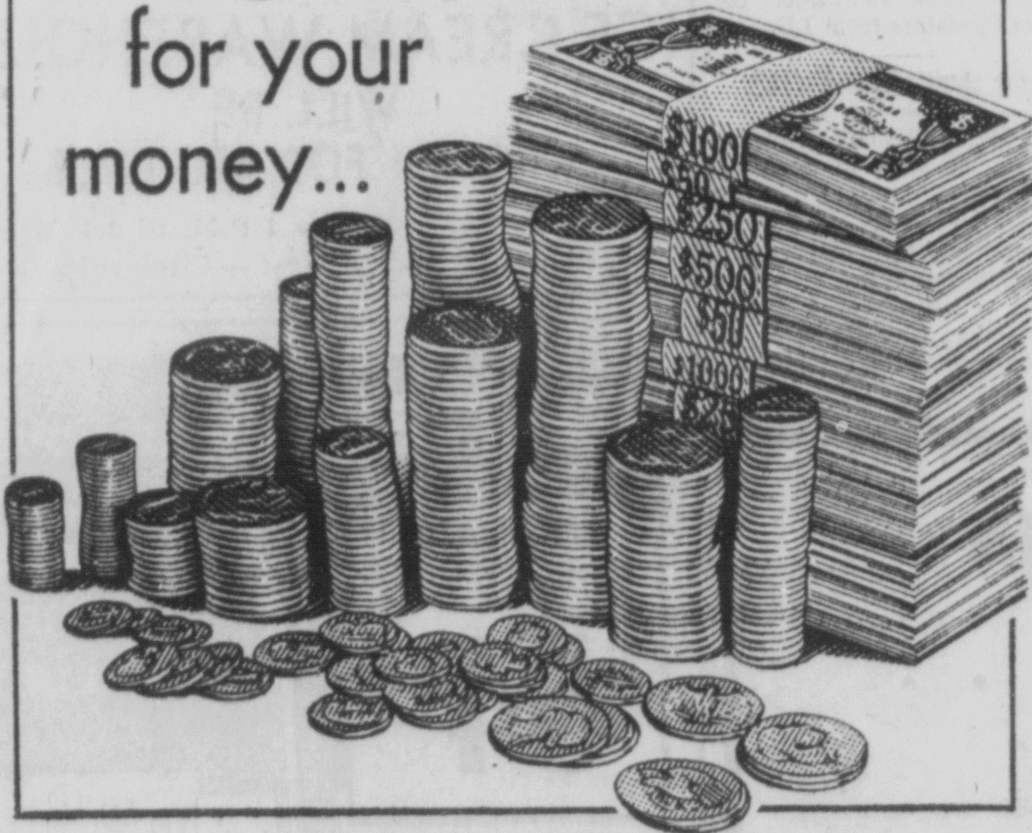

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Leis Jr. says that the fatal beating of a 73-year-old Cincinnati man last July resulted from a "head hunting" expedition.

Leis made the reference during his opening statement Thursday in the first-degree murder trial of Johnny Tarpley, 20, of Cincinnati in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

Leis explained that "head hunting" is when someone or a group look for a person who can be knocked down and robbed.

School Counselors Guide Students Toward Futures

DORIS GILLESPIE AND RICHARD FISHER
Circleville Guidance Counselors

By DEAN SMALLWOOD and
CHIP MORGAN

This week the journalism class would like to acknowledge the guidance counselors, Mr. Richard B. Fisher and Mrs. Doris C. Gillespie.

Mr. Fisher, of 431 Holiday Lane, was born in Hilliard, Ohio, in 1933. He graduated from Hilliard High School in 1951 and went on to receive a degree from Capital University in 1955.

After graduating, Fisher served for two years in the U.S. Navy, and directly upon his discharge in 1957, came to Circleville High School where he accepted a job teaching American history and American government. Since then, Mr.

Fisher has obtained his MA degree in 1961 from Ohio State University by taking summer classes there. He has also attended school three additional summers since: in 1963 at Ohio State, in 1966 at the University of Wisconsin and in 1969 again at Ohio State University.

Mr. Fisher coached baseball for two years and had a championship team in 1962. He was also assistant football coach for 12 years.

In the past, he has been president of the Circleville Teacher's Assn. and was president of the steering committee for the North Central Assn. for evaluation. He is a trustee of the Scioto Paint Valley Guidance Center and a member of the Community Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board. Mr. Fisher attends Trinity Lutheran Church where he is active in choir, and teaches an adult Sunday school class. He has a wife and is the father of three children.

This man has proven through years of learning, teaching and community activity that he is most capable of guiding the youth of today down the path to the future.

Mrs. Doris Gillespie, 432 Holiday Lane, was born in Charleston, W. Va., in 1928. She graduated from Charleston High School in 1946 and attended Morris Harvey College for her undergraduate work. From there, she went on to Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va.

Mrs. Gillespie began her teaching career at Horseman Junior High in Charleston, where she taught physical education and health. She next taught physical education and geography at Chamberlin Junior High. From Chamberlin, she began teaching physical education at Dupont High School in Belle, W. Va. She began her work as guidance counselor at Eastbank High School before arriving in Circleville in 1965.

Mrs. Gillespie belongs to the First Presbyterian Church where she teaches first and second grade Sunday school classes. She is an active member in the American Association of University Women and belongs to the Pickaway County Mental Health Organization. Mrs. Gillespie is also a member of the Gardenwood Garden Club and the YMCA.

Band Members Attend Clinic

By BETH WEILER and
KATHI OROS

On Feb. 19, 20 and 21, five Circleville High School band members attended the Morehead Band Clinic in Morehead, Ky.

The clinic was made up of 500 students from seven states. These people were divided into six different bands.

Attending from Circleville were: Dave Winner, Bob Reagan, Jim Salyers, Betty Salyers, Betty Brindlinger and Arlene Walters. Dave Winner sat in with Smith's University Band, and Bob Reagan played under Howell's band, Jim Salyers and Betty Brindlinger were placed under Mitchell's US Army Band; Arlene Walters played for Revell's Honor Band.

These students were under stiff competition and heavy directing. They feel that this experience has proven very beneficial to their music career.

Meet Our Staff

By MARY K. LUCAS, ARLENE WALTERS and
BETH WEILER

Debbie Coates daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coates, 300 Sunset Drive, is the lone sophomore enrolled in journalism at CHS.

Debbie has two older brothers — Mike, who is a senior here at CHS, and Don, who was a 1970 graduate and is presently enrolled at CTL.

DEBBIE COATES

Enrolled in the business course, Debbie plans to become a secretary after graduation. She lists bowling, horseback riding and swimming as her likes. Snobby people and rainy days are among her dislikes.

When asked her opinion of the journalism class, she said, "It feels kind of weird being the only sophomore in the class."

Norma Shepherd, an 18-year-old senior, resides at 604 S. Scioto St. with her mother, Mrs. Mildred Lawson.

NORMA SHEPHERD

Norma has three brothers and one sister. She is active in school and lists FHA, choir and girls volleyball intramurals as her interests.

Her opinion of journalism is "It's fun sometimes, but it takes a lot of hard work to make an article newsworthy and to get the articles in on time." When asked why she took journalism, she replied, "Because I enjoy writing and I want to learn more about writing news articles."

After graduation, Norma, who is in the general course of study, plans to get a job and be on her own.

KATHI OROS

Kathi Oros who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oros at 525 Plaza Drive, is a junior and enrolled in the business course.

Her activities include band and Science Club. Kathi's hobbies are art, sewing and reading and her main interests are music and things out-of-the-ordinary.

In October, being interested in the country's politics, she joined a club called "Youth for Democrats." She has been working for John Gilligan and Howard Metzbaum and has been helping with their campaigns. Kathi is one of the people trying to start up another "Youth for Democrats Club" in Pickaway County.

Her plans for the future include enrollment in the Columbus College of Art and Design, and therefore, to pursue a career in art.

Spirit Booster Committee Leads Teams To SCOL

By ROD KASLER

At the beginning of the school year, a group of students selected by the student council began working under the supervision of Carol Wylie.

Their main objective was to promote school spirit. Many hours were spent making badges, posters and signs; then, plastering them on the walls, bulletin boards, and shirt tails.

However, the work paid off. It spurred the athletes of CHS to a league title in football, basketball, and wrestling. It inspired plays such as those put on by the speech class and Stogie Club to be greater than ever expected. Students have a better respect for education and are eager to join in various school activities. All that can be asked of this group is that they keep up the good work and be given due credit for making the 1970-71 year the best ever.

Shea Keeps Sign In Time

By GARY SPANGLER and
CHIP MORGAN

Has anyone ever wondered who changes the large sign in front of the school?

Regardless of the weather, at the beginning of each week Tom Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shea, 335 Meadow Lane, faithfully posts the current happenings at CHS. Tom's other activities include football, track, assembly committee as well as being president of Hi-Y.

"I think if more people know what is going on at school, they will attend the activities," was Tom's reply when he was asked if he minded changing the sign.

By NORMA SHEPHERD and LINDA HUTCHISON

This week four DECA students are featured. They are Kathy Forrest, Connie Glick, Becky Herkless and Sheila Souders.

Kathy is 17 years old and resides at 454 N. Court St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burgoon. Her main interests are Dennis, swimming, ice skating, drawing and horseback riding. She dislikes stuck-up and two-faced people.

Kathy works at the L. M. Butch Jewelry Co. Her opinion of her job is, "My job is very interesting and a lot of fun. I work with and meet a lot of nice people. I enjoy working there."

Kathy's comment on DECA: "You learn a lot about retailing and selling, which, in turn, helps you on the job. It sometimes becomes difficult work along with the fun."

Connie is also 17 years old. Her mother is Mrs. Blodwyn Scarborough of Columbus. Connie resides at 374 East Main St. here in Circleville.

Her main interests are horseback riding, swimming, taking care of children, having a good time and volleyball. She works at Lowe's Lumber Co. and states, "It's very nice. I really like the people I work with." Her opinion of DECA, is, "DECA is an A-O-K course. It's made me a lot of friends and has helped me in the field of distribution."

Becky, 17, resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Herkless and her three sisters at 1075 Mulberry Road.

Her main interests include her family, her church, Chuck, being with her friends and the thought of her coming graduation. Becky does not yet have a job, but she explains that the kind of job she wants is one where she works with children or with older people.

When asked her opinion of DECA she replied, "I think DE is really worthwhile. It's a lot of fun participating in its events."

Sheila, who is 18, resides at 360 Brown St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Souders, her three brothers and her five sisters.

Sheila lists working, pizza, the record "Knock Three Times," and Teays Valley basketball games as her main interests. She is employed at W. D. Heiskell and Son Realtors.

She says of her job, "I enjoy working there very much. It's a very rewarding job and the people I work with are very nice." "DECA is very interesting and useful in my senior year. I have enjoyed it and encourage everyone to take it."

Besides DECA, Sheila is also active in the choir.

Your Horoscope

By DEBBIE SCHNEIDER and TERRY HUSTON

Time: March 5 - 11. Place: The stars. What's in store for you? Read on and see!

Aries — Now is the time for projects. All offers could bear quiet meditation.

Taurus — Don't give "bread" toward vague promises or projects. All offers could bear a good look - see.

Gemini — New alliances can wait til later. Time is on your side.

Cancer — Confusion thickens. You tend to allow the imagination to go far beyond the limits of reason. Gossip, reports and even so-called official releases may be garbled or distorted, but sit tight till everything's cleared up.

Leo — If you have been cautious, there is little to worry about. If you have not, you have a king-size job ahead to clean up a mess.

Virgo — Half of your problem is solved. Obtain advice. Genuine love will prevail.

Libra — Trust what is sure. Suspect whatever is not. Decisions that affect all in a household should first be discussed and approved by them.

Scorpio — There is no need to restrain urges to get to work at something that is interesting. Don't neglect people around you, for they are the very ones who can help you eventually.

Sagittarius — Remain wide awake, and there should be some profit in it for you. It can be better to be respected than loved.

Capricorn — Enjoy family pastimes and forget your troubles.

Aquarius — Stop that acting! Take off that mask and show people who you really are. Your financial state and love-life will improve.

Pisces — Caution is your by-word. Do not take issue with heads or associates unless you have solid evidence to back you. It's time to arrange for weekend social events.

From 18,380 new claims filed in the week of Jan. 16, the filing dropped to 12,264 in the week ending Feb. 21.

Agnew Sets New Try At Golfing

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — "If you're not willing to risk failure and embarrassment," says Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, "you're not willing to try."

That is why, Agnew said Wednesday, he will continue to play golf despite his record as something of a menace on the fairways.

During the Bob Hope Desert

Classic golf tournament last month his drives hit three spectators, and in the tournament the year before one of his drives hit golf professional Doug Sanders, his playing partner. None of the injuries was serious.

During a speech at a meeting of the western region of the National Association of Counties,

Agnew quipped about his performance last month:

"Well, you would have been nervous, too. I asked my caddy for a driver and he called for a priest."

Agnew did not play golf during his brief visits here. He went to the tennis courts instead.

Urge Pay Boost For Pen Guards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Legislative Service Commission has recommended higher pay for state penitentiary guards to curtail the current annual 40 per cent turnover.

In a report sent legislators and the governor's task force investigating Ohio prisons, the commission also called for creation of a separate department of correction.

Other recommendations included pre-sentence investigations for convicted felons, work-release programs and increased educational opportunities for prisoners, hiring of fulltime prison inspectors, and expansion of state probation and pre-release services.

LOCKPORT, Ill. (AP) — A youth who survived the tragic Our Lady of the Angels school fire in Chicago has devoted his college spare-time to a campus volunteer fire department because he is "aware that it could happen again."

Robert J. Pales, 21, of Chicago, a senior at Lewis College, was "just a little guy" in the fourth-grade Dec. 1, 1958 when fire engulfed the parochial school on Chicago's West Side.

"I remember the nuns led our class out of our room. We were one of the fourth-grades in the basement," Pales said. "We didn't even know there was a fire going on until we got outside and looked at the third floor."

"The sisters kept us around a few minutes, then told us to go home. We ran home and I told my mother. I went back to the school with her ... then she saw the kids jumping from the windows and she took them home," he said.

Ninety-two children and three nuns were killed, most of them trapped on the upper floors.

When Pales arrived at Lewis as a freshman, he learned the school 40 miles southwest of Chicago had a student volunteer fire department and immediately joined. In January 1969, he was named chief of the seven-member department. He and the other firefighters reside in the fire barracks.

"We're on 24-hour call and we take turns remaining on campus during the weekend," Pales said. "We have drills and each man spends a year in maintenance of the equipment, checking buildings and recommending safety improvements."

"It's the only student volunteer department I know of any college," Pales said.

The department's equipment includes two pumps, a ladder truck and another vehicle that can be used as an ambulance.

They were the best act at the annual amateur night of the Church Youth Group. The audience loved them—not only their parents and their friends' parents, but all the other folks, too.

More important is what it did for the boys themselves. Learning to work together, enjoying every minute of rehearsal, perfecting talents they hardly knew they had . . . and doing it all as part of the youth program of their church.

But don't miss the "dig" they gave the rest of us when they named their group. Too many youngsters today have the impression that we consider theirs a hopeless generation.

The truth of the matter is that most of American youth belongs to the finest generation our country has yet raised. While you and I are reading and hearing about the "wild" minority, our churches are working quietly and effectively to mold the faith and character of tomorrow's citizens.

A black and white photograph of four young boys, likely members of a church youth group, dressed in formal attire including suits, ties, and hats. They are standing close together, holding a large, rolled-up scroll or banner. The boy on the far left is wearing glasses and has a wide-eyed, open-mouthed expression. The boy next to him is looking towards the scroll. The boy in the center is holding the scroll with both hands and looking upwards with an open mouth. The boy on the far right is also looking upwards with an open mouth. The background is plain and light-colored.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

With basketball and wrestling coming down to the final wire, the end of the indoor sports is in sight and, although the weather seems to deny it, outdoor sports are appearing on the horizon.

Baseball, track and golf will be moving into the picture and with it those balmy spring days that are eagerly awaited by most of us.

Action and thrills have been plentiful in the gyms and the fair weather sports promise more of the same. If you failed to take advantage of the spectacles last year make it a point to be at the tracks, diamonds and links this season.

These fine young athletes will give you plenty to talk about and many a delightful afternoon. We'll see you there.

Ty Ankrom, former Circleville High School athlete, led his basketball team to the runnerup spot in the Ohio University intramural league. Some of the top high school players in the state made up the teams and finishing second in a league that comprised 128 teams is quite a feat.

Ty is also a member of the OU baseball squad and is making quite a name for himself.

Our little gem of information — Prize money in the 53 events of the 1971 PGA tour will add up to $7,124,801. Quite a kitty for the golfers to divide when you consider the total money in the 1949 tour amounted to less than $500,000.

Our "fearless" forecast — Logan Elm to stop Canal Winchester... Gary Player will prove he didn't make the trip from South Africa for nothing in the Doral Open... Frazier is the man who will have the last say when he unloads the bomb on poor Mr. Clay.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Hanging Out Off-Season Pro Football Wash Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the off-season pro football wash:

The Pro Football Hall of Fame at Canton, Ohio, had 122,738 visitors, a record, during 1970. The Hall expects to open a new $600,000 wing this spring.

Bucks Seek 19th Win At Detroit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks go after their record 19th consecutive victory tonight. Then they want to have some fun before the National Basketball Association playoffs begin.

Greg Smith came off the bench Thursday night to help the Bucks squeeze past the Buffalo Braves 116-113 and tie the NBA record of 18 straight wins set last season by the New York Knicks.

Tonight, the Midwest Division leaders invade Detroit in a bid for their 19th in a row.

The Milwaukee-Buffalo game was the only NBA contest Thursday night. In the American Basketball Association, Kentucky downed the Floridians 128-119, and New York edged Pittsburgh 114-110 in a doubleheader at Miami.

Smith played the entire first period, then sat on the bench with a bad knee until three minutes were left in the game. A furious Buffalo rally had cut Milwaukee's lead to three points, 107-104.

Smith hit a free throw with 26 seconds left, then dropped in two more with 14 seconds remaining in the game to ice the victory.

"Tomorrow we'll go out and try to beat the record," the Bucks coach, Larry Costello, said, "then the hell with it. We'll rest, relax and have a little fun and try to get ready for the playoffs."

Lew Alcindor suffered through his second straight sub-par, for him, game, scoring 25 points and grabbing 17 rebounds, breaking his own club season records for most field goals and rebounds. Bob Kauffman led Buffalo with 26 points.

John Kinsella Sets New Swimming Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach and pupil were surprised alike over John Kinsella's NCAA record 500-yard freestyle time that opened the Big Ten swimming meet in stunning style Thursday night at Ohio State.

Kinsella, a husky freshman from Hinsdale, Ill., swam the freestyle in 4 minutes and 31.20 seconds, beating his pending NCAA mark of 4:31.60.

Irish Top Western Michigan, 110-79

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The cheers started when the game ended and kept up for more than 15 minutes. It was a dramatic finish to Austin Carr's regular season college basketball career at Notre Dame Thursday night.

Carr, one of the country's top collegiate players, threw 31 points to pace the 16th-ranked Irish over Western Michigan 110-79.

This gave him a career total of 2,435, a Notre Dame record, and the capacity hometown crowd of 11,345 in South Bend, Ind. gave him a tremendous standing ovation.

Carr and Notre Dame will play in the NCAA championship tourney starting March 13, but his varsity playing days on the Irish home court are over.

Charlie Yelverton scored 38 points to lead 10th-ranked Fordham over Georgetown, D.C. 81-68 while St. Louis knocked Louisville out of first place in the torrid Missouri Valley Conference race, 73-60. Drake now leads the MVC at 9-5 with St. Louis, Louisville and Memphis State tied for second at 8-5. A playoff for the MVC berth in the NCAA tourney seems certain.

A short jumper at the buzzer by Jim Hewitt gave Richmond a 69-67 victory over East Carolina in the Southern Conference tourney at Charlotte. In other first games William and Mary shaded Virginia Military 69-65 and Furman beat The Citadel 95-82.

In the semifinals tonight Davidson plays Furman and Richmond meets Wm.-Mary. Davidson drew a first round bye. Louisiana State downed Vanderbilt 87-85, Georgia trimmed Alabama 84-76, Tulsa overcame North Texas 81-76, Eastern Kentucky edged Morehead 76-74 Marshall whipped George Washington 106-85 and San Francisco U. turned back St. Mary's, Calif., 90-85.

Seton Hall nipped Virginia 73-71 and Manhattan tripped Iona 63-54 in a Madison Square Garden twin bill. Massachusetts, celebrated its acceptance of an NIT tourney bid by defeating Maine 84-71.

Providence, as well as Massachusetts, was added to the NIT field, leaving 11 spots to be filled before the tourney opens March 20.

Scioto Downs Sets Jug Trial For September

The 1971 Jug Trial for 3-year-old pacers scheduled for September 13 at Scioto Downs will carry an estimated purse of $30,000.

Nomination blanks for the second annual pre-Little Brown Jug test for sophomore side-wheelers are in the mail with a March 15 deadline. A nomination fee of $50 must accompany all entry blanks. This year for the first time, a sustaining payment of $100 will be due on May 15, 1971 and the starting fee of $250 will be due on the date of declaration, Thursday, Sept. 9, 1971.

The September 13 date comes just ten days before the prestigious Little Brown Jug pacing classic at Delaware, Ohio on September 23.

The Jug Trial at Scioto Downs is open to every 3-year-old pacer in the world.

Columbia George won the first Jug Trial at Scioto Downs last year, defeating a huge thirteen horse field in the track pacing record, equalling time of 1:58.

Nomination blanks for the four-event Scarlet and Gray Cup Series went into the mail right along with the Jug Trial entry blanks. Each division of the Scarlet and Gray Cup series will carry increased added money purses. The 2-year-old divisions will go for $5,000 added, and the 3-year-old divisions will carry added money purses of $6,000.

Greg Cook Faces Shoulder Surgery

CINCINNATI (AP) — Quarterback Greg Cook of the Cincinnati Bengals undergoes surgery today for a shoulder injury that sidelined him for the entire 1970 National Football League season.

Barring complications, Cook is expected to be "fully recovered" by the start of training camp in mid July, Bengals assistant general manager Mike Brown said Thursday.

Loss Of Carty May Hinder Braves Hopes

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Manager Luman Harris of the Atlanta Braves has some major problems as the exhibition season opens but one of them he can't even control. A doctor won't let him have Rico Carty, the National League's top hitter with a .366 average last year.

Neither the doctor, Harry Rogers, nor the vice president, Paul Richards, is being particularly capricious—Carty's fractured knee still requires the big, outfielder to use crutches.

So Carty's return is completely up in the air, leaving Harris with the major task of locating a replacement while the big problem of restoring his pitching staff is another major headache.

Harris has Hank Aaron and Orlando Cepeda, two-thirds of the heart of his batting order in camp. Cepeda, who hit .305 and hammered 34 homers and drove in 111 runs last season, came to terms recently joining Aaron, a .298 hitter with 38 home runs and 118 RBIs last year.

While Aaron, Carty and Cepeda tore apart National League pitching last year, the Braves' pitching staff fell apart and the defending West champions' title fell with them to a fifth-place finish. Now the pitchers are back—and Carty's gone.

But, Harris speculates, the fall may have been as much due to complacency as injuries that cost the Braves the services of No. 1 reliever Cecil Upshaw for the entire season and left Ron Reed ineffective after his return.

"We played bad last year," Harris said frankly. "Maybe we were too contented after winning the previous year and maybe it was that the darn Cincinnati club jumped out to such a bad lead. I'm not sure. But I am sure that they're working a lot harder this spring than last."

Whether that's the reason for the flop remains a question. Maybe the pitching just isn't as strong as Harris contends in listing Phil Niekro, Reed, Pat Jarvis, George Stone, Jim Nash and sophomore Mike McQueen as his potential starters.

Niekro nose dived from 23-13 in 1969 to 12-18. Reed was 7-10 after breaking his collarbone. Jarvis was 16-16. Stone was 11-11. Nash was 13-9. McQueen, just 20, was 1-5 after being summoned from the Richmond farm. And Upshaw didn't even pitch after severing a finger.

Nevertheless, Harris, finding Upshaw and Reed "perfectly sound," insists "this is the best pitching staff since I got here." That covers three previous years.

Assuming the spots in the rotation are filled, that still leaves three holes to fill—two in the outfield, where Aaron will be the lone holdover, and at shortstop, where Sonny Jackson and Gil Garrido have been found wanting.

The Braves feel they have the shortstop in Marty Perez, acquired from California in the trade for outfielder Tony Gonzalez, and the outfield candidates in Ralph Garr, International League batting king with a .386 average at Richmond; Oscar Brown, .351 at Shreveport; Dusty Baker, .325 at Richmond, or holdover Mike Lum, a .254 hitter.

Perez would fit into an infield that is otherwise sound with Cepeda at first, outstanding Felix Millan at second and veteran Cleto Boyer at third.

Can the Braves make it back to the top?

"It's a tough division," said Harris. "There's five teams capable of winning it—and I think we're one of the five."

The other four he's thinking of are Cincinnati, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Houston. With so many things required to fall into place, it's likely that the Braves will have difficulty rising higher than third.

Palmer Angry With Putting For Doral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer is disgusted, Jack Nicklaus is still playing last week's tournament and Gardner Dickinson holds the lead today going into the second round of the $150,000 Doral-Eastern Open golf tournament.

"I got so disgusted with my putting I let it effect the rest of my game," Palmer said after taking a three-over-par 75 in Thursday's first round, putting him well back in the pack.

"I played pretty well," said Nicklaus, winner of last week's PGA national championship. "But I had a couple mental lapses. I guess I was still playing the PGA."

He had a 74.

And Dickinson, a hardened veteran of almost 20 years on the pro tour who is attempting to battle his way out of a year-long slump, fought wind and cold for a four-under-par 68 and a one-stroke lead.

"It's one of my worst driving rounds ever," said the leather-faced little 130-pounder. "I just hope I keep putting like this. I know I can start hitting the ball again."

Dickinson, the 1963 winner of this event, held a one-stroke lead over five players tied at 69. They included Ted Hayes, Canadian George Knudson, Gibby Gilbert, Homero Blancas and Bobby Nichols, a former PGA champion now a club pro at Akron, Ohio.

Young Brien Alin and J.C. Sneed, winner of the Tucson Open two weeks ago, had 70s.

South African Gary Player was still in contention with a 72, but U.S. Open champ Tony Jacklin of England shot himself out of it with a 77 and may have trouble making the cut today. Defending champion Mike Hill had a 74.

Master champion Billy Casper and 1970 leading money winner Lee Trevino are not competing.

Dickinson, a one-time protege of Ben Hogan and generally considered one of the better teachers in the game, had a poor season last year. He didn't finish higher than eighth and won only $28,000, well below his usual pace. He lost his spot as an exempt player. He made money in only 13 of 22 starts and wasn't eligible for the PGA.

"I'm going to play more this year," he said. "I want to get into next year's PGA."

He said he wasn't overly concerned about his erratic driving, usually one of the strongest parts of his game.

WILMINGTON WHIZ — Bob Bowers, former Laurelville High School cage star, received second team Mid-Ohio Conference honors for his outstanding cage work with the Wilmington College Big Green. Unhappy McDowell Signs Pact; Pete Rose Still Out

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baseball's spring exhibition season got under way today without Pete Rose and, if you believe the Cincinnati superstar, the regular season is liable to start without him too.

Rose is at home in Cincinnati, holding out for a two-year, $250,000 contract while the Reds insist on offering the same money he earned last season.

"I guarantee I won't play for $105,000," said Rose. "I'll sit here and I'm serious about it. I want to play but I just can't do it for $105,000. I realize $105,000 is a lot of money but this thing has gone farther than money. There is principle behind it."

Rose batted .316 last season after winning two straight National League batting titles with averages of .335 and .348. Chief Bender Cincinnati's player personnel director, said he didn't feel Rose deserved a raise.

"I wouldn't call the deadlock hopeless," said Bender. "What I would like is a chance to talk for a long time to Pete alone. Maybe then we could get things straightened out."

The Cleveland Indians got things straightened out with Sam McDowell Thursday, although not completely to the satisfaction of their ace left-hander. McDowell signed a $72,000 contract that provides a boost to $80,000 if he matches last season's 20 victories and to $100,000 — the salary he was after—if he wins 30 games.

"By no means offer congratulations," said a solemn Sudden Sam. "They should be condolences. I have given in on everything. My hands were tied. I've been told all along to take it or leave it. I had to take it."

Houston's Joe Morgan, Orlando Cepeda of the Atlanta Braves and Mike Andrews of the Chicago White Sox all okayed their contracts Thursday as did Cincinnati outfielder Bernie Carbo and Bert Campaneris of the Oakland A's.

Rookies anxious to win big league berths began getting their first chances to impress managers under fire today with the start of the exhibition season.

New faces dotted lineups of most teams as managers gave veterans a few more days to get ready.

The schedule included Pittsburgh against the Chicago White Sox at Sarasota, Fla., Washington against the New York Yankees at Pompano Beach, Fla., Montreal against Atlanta at West Palm Beach, Fla., San Francisco against the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale, Ariz., the Tokyo Lotte Giants against Milwaukee at Tempe, Ariz., San Diego against Oakland at Yuma, Ariz., and Boston against Houston at Cocoa, Fla.

Minnesota quarterback Gary Cuozzo received his degree in dentistry from the University of Tennessee at Memphis last spring.

In Memoriam

In memory of Eddie C. Perkins who passed away March 3, 1970.
We did not know the pain you had.
Or hear your final sigh;
We only know you passed away.
Without a last goodbye.
God give us strength to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by husband,
children and grandchildren

James Delvin Smith
March 4, 1970
Beloved husband of Pamela A.
Smith. Sadly missed by family and friends.
He heard the call, he answered clear,
this boy we loved and held so dear.
To far off Nam, to distant drum,
To meet the enemy as they come.
A man he marched,
Time speeds on, one year has passed since he came the word.
Death's shadow cast within our home, where all seemed bright and took from us our shining light.
They say he sleeps.
Now we mourn, but not in vain,
For we know we'll meet again.
Take up his battle with the foe, to us with falling hands, he throws the torch.

Ohio Education Jumping Into 21st Century?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Occupational education in Ohio may have gotten a jump on the 21st Century Thursday.

Easter Seal Unit Holds Monthly Meet

The Pickaway County Easter Seal Society met this week at headquarters, 108 Reber Avenue, with society president, Mrs. Elliott Mason, in charge.

Authorization for speech therapy, physical therapy, and purchase of equipment loan was given.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Blanche Kerns, Mrs. Manley Carothers and Mrs. Eugene Siniff.

Mrs. Richard Warren noted that there had been 136 posters entered in the recent Easter Seal Poster Contest. She stated that the winning posters are on display at Ward's Royal Blue Market, 168 W. Main Street and the remaining posters are being used throughout the city and county during the Easter Seal Campaign now in progress.

Mrs. Carothers and Mrs. Darrell Coverdell are making plans for the Annual Lily Day Sale scheduled for April 3.

Plans have been made by Richard Plum, Campaign Chairman, to distribute coin cards to the county schools.

The Society will hold a Food Sale Friday, March 26, at the Economy Savings and Loan Co., 117 W. Main Street. Food Sale Committee is Mrs. Paul Roan, Mrs. Kerns and Mrs. Paul Frank. Miss Sharon Ely is making the posters for this event.

It was noted that over 9,000 pieces of Easter Seal mail had been prepared by the group and if there are those who have not received Easter Seals in the mail, and are desirous of receiving them, please contact Society Headquarters — 474-5253. Contributions may be made to Easter Seals, Post Office Box 243, Circleville.

The next meeting is scheduled for April 6.

Ex-Prosecutor Faces Charges In Slaying Case

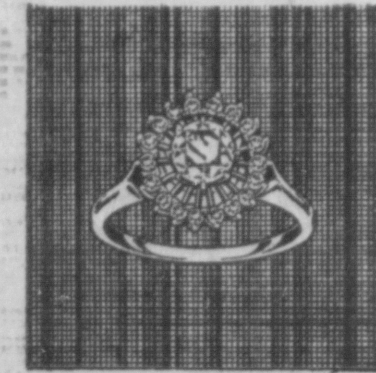

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Former assistant Cleveland City prosecutor Rufus Breland, 43, will appear in Cleveland Municipal Court today on charges of second-degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Clara Kelly, 27, found dead at his home by Cleveland police Wednesday morning.

Police said the slaying apparently followed a quarrel.

The Cuyahoga County Coroner's office said Mrs. Kelly had been beaten to death, reportedly with a hammer.

Breland, a lawyer with the city's public defenders office, was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond. He was assistant city prosecutor from 1965 to 1967.

education introduced into the Ohio Senate marked the beginning of a "major reform of the state's education concepts."

Aronoff and Sen. Howard Cook, R-1 Toledo, co-sponsored the six measures.

The legislation represented some of the recommendations of the Commission on Vocational and Technical Education, created by the 108th General Assembly last year to assess the state's occupational education program and report to the governor.

The commission's finished report was presented to Gov. John J. Gilligan Thursday afternoon.

That report recommended that Ohio give high priority to improving vocational and technical education and providing it for more people. Also proposed was a massive public relations campaign to remove "the social stigma attached to occupational education."

The commission, headed by Aronoff, also suggested that vocational education funds to inner city schools be brought up to rural levels.

The people who often need occupational education the most are being missed by the present system, Aronoff said.

In separate resolutions, Aronoff requested the state to better use private vocational school facilities, to conduct follow-up studies of vocational school graduates, to provide vocational training in high schools as well as joint vocational schools, and to improve public understanding of technical education.

All of the proposals paralleled commission recommendations.

One of Aronoff's bills asked that the life of the commission be extended to July 1, 1972.

A second proposed that education resource centers be established around the state to assist school districts with cooperative efforts ranging from long term planning to purchases.

The same proposal was made twice during the 108th General Assembly, but both times failed to make it out of committee.

Aronoff said, however, that legislative climate has improved.

"With schools failing and people demanding a change," Aronoff said, "politicians are becoming more amenable to reform."

"The Legislature usually is reluctant to swallow wholesale reform the first time around, but after that it gets easier," the Cincinnati Republican said.

"We've got a good shot at it this time."

What we have to dispel the Senator said, is the notion that occupational education is advanced "broom pushing."

The kind of offerings the commission envisions, he said, do range from the less sophisticated manual arts to the very sophisticated training that goes into the making of a skilled worker.

The commission wants to make available training at an early enough age, Aronoff said, that it can help people "become productive in an area of their own choice."

Aronoff estimated the cost of vocational education for the next biennium would be about $17 million, and that, he said, would

Mercury Contamination Found In 28 Dead Whales

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A Navy science team says a high level of poisonous mercury—presumably derived from fish in their diet—was found in 28 pilot whales which beached themselves and died on an island off the California coast.

Concentrations of up to 23.9 parts of the poison per million parts of liver tissue turned up in autopsy tests of carcasses from the incident Jan. 7, the Naval Undersea Research and Development Center said Thursday.

A limit of five-tenths of a part per million in fish for human consumption has been set by the Food and Drug Administration.

There was speculation by some ecologists at the time of the mass beaching that it was a mute protest by the mammals against man's pollution of their environment.

William E. Evans, head of the Naval center's marine bio-science division, said the whales died of stranding not from mercury poisoning.

He said it was clear that the poison must have come from their diet.

Scientists say this also is the source of mercury found in contaminated tuna and swordfish, both predators dependent on a diet of smaller fish which concentrate the mercury in their bodies as it moves up the ocean food chain.

Evans said the stranding of the whales, which ranged up to 16 feet in length and 1,300 pounds in weight, might have resulted from their follow-the-leader habit.

He said pilot whales often beach themselves when one or more herd members become confused and head for dangerous shallows.

"A variety of factors contribute to such confusion," he said, "including darkness of the night, absence of surf, tide conditions and misinterpretation of the whales' own sonar signals."

only "keep us at current training levels."

"We will need a lot more money," he said.

In the House, Rep. Gertrude Polcar, R-51 Parma, introduced legislation to make the state responsible for teacher retirement fund contributions, rather than local boards of education.

Under the Polcar proposal, the state would be both the prime contributor and the manager of the fund after Jan. 1, 1972.

The bill is designed to ease financial crises at the local level by freeing some earmarked money for other uses.

Both houses of the Legislature have scheduled skeleton sessions Monday. Full floor sessions will resume Tuesday.

Victor Reuther Set To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Victor Reuther says he plans to retire as director of international affairs for the United Auto Workers union and administrative assistant to its president, Leonard Woodcock, after the union's 1972 convention.

"I had determined quite a number of years ago that when I reached the age of 60 I thought it time to retire," Reuther, brother of the late UAW President Walter Reuther, said Thursday. "I will have reached the age of 60 next January."

Reuther said he planned to do some writing and travel.

Gilligan Raps State Pen Relocation

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan said here Thursday night the remote location of the new state penitentiary being built in Scioto County will cause problems recruiting qualified people to work there.

That might hamper efforts to get federal assistance for some prison reform programs the administration is contemplating, he said.

Speaking informally before the Northwest Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a journalists' society, Gilligan also said he wanted to see the Ferguson Act, which bans strikes by public employees, abolished.

He said he will propose legislation to give public employees the same rights to organize and bargain as their counterparts in industry.

But Gilligan added that someone still must have the ultimate power to stop a strike if it endangers the public welfare.
